*EXPERIENCE SACRED, DISTANT
CULTURES YOU NEVER KNEW EXISTED.*

ATW80Fabrics announces wild experiential learning - biophilic adventures - connecting humans, textiles, and the natural world.

With over 30 years of experience guiding journeys, your trip leader, medical anthropologist Carroll Dunham, brims with an insatiable curiosity for exploring different ways of living, cultural traditions, rich geographies, and the natural history and biodiversity of this planet we call home. With a rich background in Buddhism, medicinal plants, and traditional healing systems, Carroll will reveal remarkable makers, farmers, herders, designers, ecologists, and spiritual leaders who lend insight into the human ingenuity of plastic-free fabrics.

Altai Mountains, Kazakh Felting & Eagle Hunters

2-12 SEPTEMBER, 2024

Experience sacred, distant cultures you never knew existed.

Venture into the remote and rugged Western Altai region, where ancient traditions endure amid dramatic landscapes. Learn the traditional felting arts from nomadic Kazakh women, gaining insights into their cultures and history. Marvel at the largest petroglyph site in Central Asia, a window into the prehistoric past. Immerse yourself in the nomadic lifestyle, potentially sighting ibex herds and visiting Tuvan families in their ger camps. Witness the extraordinary tradition of eagle hunting competitions and the spiritual practice of Tuvan shamanism through a powerful healing ritual. For the adventurous, embark on an epic two-day horse ride across the mountains to KharaKhuul. Throughout, discover the rich natural history of the five fibers that have sustained this culture for centuries.

Weaving Spirit with Nonhuman Worlds Pilgrimage

2-12 OCTOBER, 2024

Experience sacred, distant cultures you never knew existed.

Have you dreamt of visiting Bhutan but never made it? Have you already visited Bhutan and long to return? This may be the journey for you. We will engage our hands, our feet, our minds, and our hearts in this interactive, exciting pilgrimage- adventure by day and luxury at night. We will start our journey in the glacial valley of Paro before flying to the heartland of the country, Bumthang. We will meet with extraordinary, unforgettable, and remarkable people: from sheep herders and wool spinners, to royal weavers who teach us how to weave, heritage keepers sustaining natural dyes, to monks, meditators, Buddhist philosophers and charismatic female diviners to artists, hip fashion designers translating tradition into contemporary style, to politicians working to balance economic needs while honoring nonhuman worlds.
